

EVENTS CALENDER

MCA CHICAGO

I expressed my concerns to Jen, that was having concerns on where to document the feminist locations. She suggested that I scrap the idea of a physical map entirely. Instead, consider creating a calendar letting people know about feminist events throughout the year.

The perfect thing about this calendar is that when I've created a template, it can be rolled out to any city.

I really like the idea of a simple presentation which involves printing on different colours or using coloured inks on a risograph. I was particularly inspired by one group's work during our professional practice feminist archive brief who created a series of street posters.

POST PROJECTS

Punk Posters Of The 1970s And Beyond Celebrate The Era Of Safety Pins, Mohawks And Studs.

Jen advised me to reconsider using the images of people on the front, instead suggested that drawings could be more engaging. She also reminded me of the fact that the poster would be stuck down, hiding the answers. I started creating abstract images for each event. I would at first draw them out on paper with black paint and pen and then I would scan them in before translating them into digital using Illustrator.

CHICKS THAT ROCK SOCIAL.
7:30PM - 10:00 PM
Cotton Tower

For ladies of Bristol and beyond who enjoy the vibrant club of gigs and what for. For other women who are equally into music and also as a woman, you look forward to the monthly or so cover each year in the club. Ladies of this they will not be the group for you. Although, of course, it's totally inclusive group. Come so you are as they say.

BRISTOL WOMEN'S BUSINESS NETWORKING MEETUP

19:00 AM - 12:00 PM
Waterford

Waterford & Pervasive Media Studio 1
Canons Road Harbourside Bristol, BS1 5TN

This is a group for women in business. Whether you're an established business or just getting started, it would be great to see you and find out all about your venture.

Are you a colleague, entrepreneur, manager or any kind of owner for that matter? If you're running your own business, local and further afield. Then this group is for you. However big or small your business is, it's the great if you consider us.

I've started this group as I LOVE to talk about business and would really like to meet like-minded women facing similar business challenges. We can share our disappointments and celebrate our victories over a cuppa and hopefully some cake!

11:00AM to 1:00 PM
Green Room, Dorr's Coffee House

23 - 25 St. Augustines Parade, Bristol, BS1 4UL.

If you are interested in reading and discussing what you've read with a group of people who are interested in doing the same, then come along. This book club will meet on the 23rd, 24th and 25th of March. We will meet up once a week for an hour or so to discuss what you've read.

5 TUE

BRISTOL FEMINIST FILM CLUB - THE DAY I BECAME A WOMAN

19:30-22:30
Horta Pub

49 Broad Street, Bristol, BS1 2ER

Come and watch this acclaimed train film, written, produced and directed by Marjón Meulen. It tells the stories of women at three different stages of life, exploring their friendships and isolation.

Process from the tickets of this screening will be donated to WAFW, whose mission is to protect Middle Eastern and Afghan women and girls who are at risk of "honor" based violence, forced marriage, child marriage, female genital mutilation and domestic violence and to promote their rights.

PLAYHOUSE CREATURES A. E. AND CHICKEN

7:30pm
St George's Bristol

Great George Street, Bristol, BS1 6SR.

London, 1659. King Charles II is on the throne, the theatres have reopened and pantomim long forgotten. For the first time, women are permitted to act on a stage.

Playhouse Creatures follows the fortunes of Nell Owen and three other aspiring actresses as they fight for recognition and equality in a man's world. With comedy, pathos and strong language, Playhouse Creatures shines a light on the real-life female pioneers of theatre in England.

6 WED

A RADICAL HISTORY OF INTERNATIONAL WOMEN'S DAY

7:30
The Old Market Assembly

10th Street, Bristol, BS1 6SR

International Women's Day is today widely commemorated and reported on. But the radical history of this day is largely overlooked. Inspired by a strike of women workers, many from immigrant backgrounds, in New York in 1909, and the proclamation by the Communist Party in 1917, the day has since become a global day of protest and solidarity. This event will explore the history of the day, from its origins in the Russian Revolution, through to the present day. It will also explore the role of the day in the struggle for women's liberation today. Come along and join the debate!

GIRLING!

7:30
Vardroba Theatre

The Old Market Assembly, 25 West Street, Bristol, BS2 0DF.

Without seeing new company Run Like Stag? Here's your chance to see a new piece of British feminist history - follow one woman's journey from feminist to punk to changing punk bars.

It's 1955. Penny Ferrings are everything. Big Ben is ringing and Britain is in the new '60s and time is moving fast. It's the new '60s and time is moving fast. It's the new '60s and time is moving fast. It's the new '60s and time is moving fast.

8pm
Gala Miroplex

4 Princess Row, Bristol, BS2 8NQ.

Community Activation will look into the social politics of the queer community. Who do labels exist? Finding your tribe. For more a big part of being queer is 2019. This series of belonging is crucial to those who have been marginalized and isolated. The value of being heard and being around others who don't question your existence is invaluable and will be explored and celebrated in this collection of shorts. At the same time, they will give insights into the divisions and obstacles that arise when the incredibly diverse spectrum of queer love and identities come together as one community.

THE COMEDY BOX PRESENTS: SHAPPI KHORRAMI

8:00pm
Stratford Vic

Bristol Old Vic, King Street, Bristol, BS1 4EQ.

Comedian, actor, cultural icon and - most recently - actor who agreed to be locked in a Cockney pub. Shapka Khorrami is a woman of many parts. But her comedy is where she shines. And now - after her spell in the jungle - she sets out for the new welcoming destination of Bristol.

A brand new show packed full of sharp-tongued gigs and cultural observations, this is Shapka's work and all journey through the 90s comedy scene, to breaking through on telly and then setting it slip away.

Comedian, actor, cultural icon and - most recently - actor who agreed to be locked in a Cockney pub. Shapka Khorrami is a woman of many parts. But her comedy is where she shines. And now - after her spell in the jungle - she sets out for the new welcoming destination of Bristol.

Here is my first draft for the events calendar. Jen commented that the images are way more effective but that I should consider making the title image a lot bigger. She also told me that I should come up with a brand name for the calendar, in which I decided on The A Gender is a playful nod to the contents of the feminist calendar.

Here is my final design in which I printed onto neon pink paper. I understand that I could be criticised for using a typically feminist colour. However, I did it for two reasons: one being that yes, it's a typical colour but I argue that it's a mainstream design. Secondly, neon pink is not soft or feminine. It borders on acidic and is very attention grabbing.

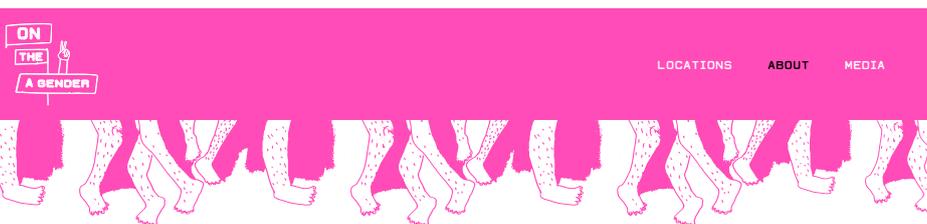

Jen told me to consider new platforms that On The A Gender can be taken to. She asked me to think about promotional material, such as bookmarks that people can take away individually and pass along to each other. She also told me to consider whether the calendar could be translated onto an online platform. I thought this would be a wonderful idea as there seems to be a real gap in the market. I really struggled to put together this calendar due to the fact that the sources were so scattered in multiple forms. Having the information in a single place is really valuable for some people.

RACHEL REEVES MP: WHAT'S THE FUTURE OF WOMEN IN POLITICS?
 6:30-7:30
 Waterstones Bristol - Colston
 14 Colston Gateway, Bristol, BS1 2JQ
 There are more women in parliament than ever: 328 women MPs were elected to the House of Commons in the General Election of 2017, a record high of 22 per cent of the total.
 There are 205 female peers, making up 32 per cent of Members of the House of Lords. At the same time, the proportion of Parliamentarians appointed in one record year in 2017 was 40 per cent female. However, the number of women in the House of Commons is still only 22 per cent. What's the future of women in politics?
 Rachel Reeves MP will be speaking at the event, which will be moderated by our guest, Dr. Sarah Childs. The event will be a free event, but there will be a small charge for the event.
